

Design Process

The Preliminary Design Agreement

The preliminary design agreement is the step that will start the process of turning your ideas into reality via concept drawings.

Documenting The House

The first step is to document your home. During the documentation, we will carefully measure your existing conditions and/or affected rooms so we can accurately plot your current home into our design software. At this time we will also take numerous pictures in an effort to help us evaluate the details (structural and practical) of your project.

Drawing and Estimating

At our office, our talented and experienced designers will input your existing conditions into our software and begin designing your project while keeping your ideas and budget we previously discussed as the main priority.

Design Meetings

At the Design Meeting(s), we will present you with a color virtual three dimensional viewing of your proposed project, final project cost based on the design(s) and 24"x 36" drawings with applicable views and floor plans.

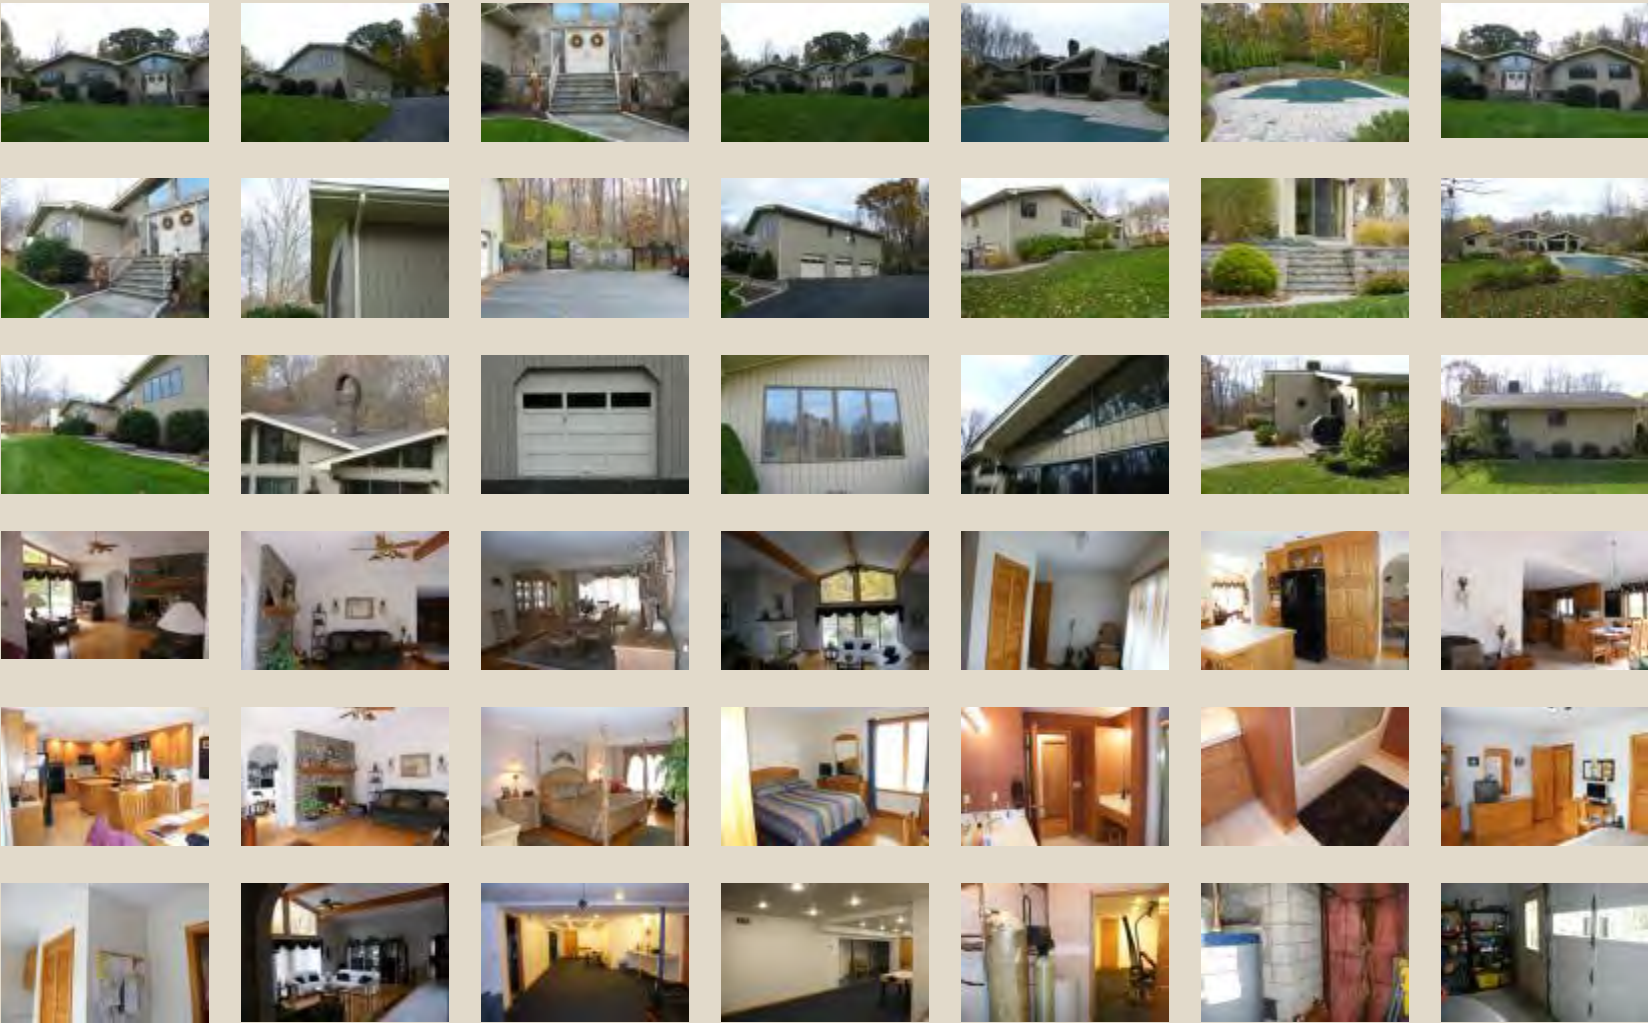

Once we have made your desired changes and agree on the design and costs, we can finalize the working drawings, obtain the necessary permits and begin the construction!
